

Currey & Company Purchases New Atlanta Headquarters

Family-owned designer lighting and home furnishings manufacturer acquires 119,000-square-foot building at 4470 Greer Circle, Stone Mountain, Georgia

Currey & Company, a premier resource for wholesale designer lighting, furniture and home decor, has purchased a 119,000-square-foot building at 4470 Greer Circle to serve as its new headquarters. The company closed on the property on August 5, 2026, and expects to move from its longtime home on Best Friend Road in mid-to-late 2027.

The five-year-old facility was purpose-built for furniture distribution (formerly Georgia Furniture Mart), with 39-foot clear ceilings, a 45,650-square-foot mezzanine and a large, secure truck court. It will house the company's offices, warehouse, shipping, product development space, design library and a working corporate showroom. An adjacent pre-graded site allows for roughly 87,000 square feet of future expansion, and part of the land will become an organic community garden.

The new location, minutes from Highway 78 and I-285, adds shipping capacity and a covered customer pickup area while keeping the company close to its current employee base. Owning the building also fulfills a long-held goal for the second-generation, family-owned company.

"After nearly 25 years at Best Friend Road, I see this move as much more than a change of address," said Brownlee Currey, CEO of Currey & Company. "We have the chance to build a workplace around the company we are becoming rather than continuing to adapt a building around the company we used to be. As a family-owned business, having the independence to make that kind of long-term investment is enormously meaningful."
