Hudson Valley Lighting Group Debuts Four New Collections at October High Point Market

The lighting family will debut collections across brands HVL, Corbett, Sonneman, Mitzi, as well as showcasing new brand Schoolhouse for the first time at market

Wappingers Fall, NY (October 15, 2026) - Hudson Valley Lighting Group will be launching four fall lines across their family of brands this October at High Point Market. Brands include Hudson Valley Lighting, Corbett Lighting, Sonneman, and a debut collection from Mitzi's newest tastemaker, Kate Marker.

Following their spring collections, both Corbett and HVL will continue with their themes of New Bohemian and French Farmstead with Corbett adding 91 new SKUs and HVL 217. Also new to market this spring will be Sonneman's "A New Expression of Modern Living" collection, products that incorporate the ethos of modern design with the needs of contemporary living. The line will move towards a deeper residential feel with the introduction of warm metal finishes, and softer geometry. Designer, Kate Marker, finishes off this fall's launches with her debut collection as a Mitzi Tastemaker.

Hudson Valley Lighting's French Farmstead responds to the resurgence of Contemporary Country, with a refined take rooted in the charm of the French countryside. This trend pairs transitional design with decadent materials like luxe glass and crystal, blending heritage-inspired details with a touch of modern sophistication.

New Bohemian from Corbett blends the delicate, flowing elegance of Art Nouveau with a free-spirited, collected sensibility. Vintage-inspired forms, retro patterns, and rich textures combine to create iconic statement pieces that feel both nostalgic and fresh. The result is a layered aesthetic, infused with artistic flair and bold individuality.

“We’re excited to introduce such a wide range of new products across our brands this fall,” said Malaina Matheus, CEO of Hudson Valley Lighting Group. “Our design team does a great job of understanding what designers and consumers are looking for while continuing to bring new ideas to each collection. Those new ideas also include the many talented additional voices through our Mitzi Tastemakers' program. This fall we are thrilled to welcome Kate Marker into our community.”

If you are currently at October High Point Market, please come by our showroom at Market Square: M70, M90, M99, Mezzanine to check out all the collections and meet our team!
