

ACCENT DECOR

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 15, 2023

Accent Decor Hosts Brian Patrick Flynn Showroom Design Collaboration Event

Atlanta-based Accent Decor, the industry-leader in home accents, floral and plant containers, and event-centric products, will host interior designer and HGTV personality Brian Patrick Flynn for an engaging event in their 5500-square foot High Point Market showroom. Flynn thoughtfully curated a showroom vignette that showcases some of his favorite Accent Decor products to tell a story of color and texture, mixing moments of masculinity with unexpected whimsical elements.

Market attendees are invited to mingle, sip, and shop the freshest assortment of Accent Decor products and explore Flynn's vignette Saturday April 22, 2023 from 4pm – 6pm, IHFC H309. A range of beverages and hors d'oeuvres will be provided, and Flynn will be available for a meet and greet.

"As we continue to grow our presence at High Point Market, partnering with Brian felt like a natural way to coalesce his fresh perspective with our products. We are always looking for ways to marry our love of flowers and plants with our passion for interior design, and Brian is a leader in this industry for accomplishing that," remarks Sarah Bagle, Accent Decor's Chief Creative Officer.

Accent Decor strives to partner with designers who not only enhance their products with their unique style but also highlight the functionality and versatility of each item. This is particularly helpful as the company has grown their product assortment and expanded into new customer segments. Accent Decor's customer base includes interior designers, event planners, plant shop owners, and home and gift retailers, and these types of events inspire innovation by bringing the products to life.

Bagle adds, "We are longtime fans of Brian's work, and as our team has gotten to know him through this collaborative process, it has felt natural every step of the way. It's refreshing to work with someone who is so aligned with our company's core values and design aesthetic."

About Brian Patrick Flynn

Brian Patrick Flynn is an American interior designer known for his self-taught, unorthodox, and unapologetic approach to creating spaces. In addition to an impressive career as one of the most respected professionals in his industry, Flynn is equally famous for leading an incredibly adventurous life. Not only does he designing high-end houses for high profile clients, he's also a production designer for TV and film; two of his yearly projects, HGTV Dream Home and HGTV Urban Oasis, reach tens of millions of people. He also has his own reality-based design series on Magnolia Network, Mind for Design, in which the trials and tribulations of being a self-taught designer are on full display. In between gigs, Brian and his husband Hollis, a costume designer for Marvel and disney+, are avid adventure travelers who can be found wandering mountain peaks in Patagonia, open water shark diving in the Galapagos, taking a helicopter onto the Greenland Ice Sheet, exploring ice caves in Iceland, snowmobiling on glaciers, or hiking the Grand Canyon. If that wasn't enough, Flynn fulfilled his lifelong dream of getting married on an iceberg on planet earth's most untouched continent, Antarctica, an experience captured for Harper's Bazaar.

ACCENT DECOR

About Accent Decor

Accent Decor is a wholesale distributor of design-focused vessels for the floral, plant, event planning, and home decor industries. A family-owned and operated company since 1997, Accent Decor is passionate about bringing beauty to the world with an expansive, unique product offering at accessible price points. With a desire to give back generously, the company donates 6% of annual gross profits to causes and organizations within their global and local communities. Additionally, the company works to ensure all the artisans and manufacturer partners are paid fairly and treated with the respect and care they deserve. Accent Decor places high value on honesty, commitment, generosity, and integrity towards their customers, partners, and team members. The company is proudly headquartered in Chamblee, GA with distribution centers in Georgia and California and showrooms (open during market seasons) in Atlanta, Las Vegas, and High Point.

For additional information or queries, please contact Accent Decor Marketing Director Allison Gjuka at allisong@accentdecor.com.